

NEW COOKBOOK - JANUARY 2019

A BAKER'S PASSPORT

Recipes for Breads, Savory Pies, Vegetarian Dishes, Tarts, Cakes, and Cookie Classics

BY SUSIE NORRIS

Travel the world with A BAKER'S PASSPORT: Recipes for Breads, Savory Pies, Vegetarian Dishes, Tarts, Cakes and Cookie Classics by pastry chef and global adventurer, Susie Norris. A BAKER'S PASSPORT is Norris's third cookbook and features over 200 technique-driven recipes designed to inspire home cooks and experienced chefs alike. This world tour of regional baking is based on Norris's award-winning culinary travel blog, FoodMarketGypsy.com.

A BAKER'S PASSPORT is a curated itinerary of sweet and savory recipes such as Black Forest Cake, Croissants, Moon Cakes, Quiche Lorraine, Tamales, Coq au Vin, and Creme Brulee. You'll learn the lore behind these treasured recipes and why they are popular all over the world. For example, how did Shoo Fly Pie get its name? And why do we think of croissants as French when they originated in Budapest?

A BAKER'S PASSPORT presents tested, reliable recipes in a logical format, with easy-to-understand steps. Recipes, many adapted to suit modern tastes and kitchen equipment, are photographed to highlight the detail and simple beauty of each classic dish.

A BAKER'S PASSPORT is available for presale now (pub date January 31, 2019.)

SUSIE NORRIS is a pastry chef, educator, and food-focused traveler. She taught baking at Le Cordon Bleu College of Culinary Arts in California where she ran an artisan chocolate business for over a decade. In 2015, she grabbed her passport and set off to explore culinary classics in their native countries, and launched FoodMarketGypsy.com, the award-winning blog that chronicles her travels. A Baker's Passport is a collection of favorite recipes from the blog with new discoveries.

Susie's work has appeared in/on The Food Network, The New York Times, The London Times, The Washington Times, and more. In 2016, she received the International Association of Culinary Professionals' Digital Media award for FoodMarketGypsy.com. She lives with her family in Los Angeles and has roots in Kentucky bourbon country and the farm-to-table culture of the Berkshires of Massachusetts. A Baker's Passport is her third book, following Chocolate Bliss (Penguin Random House, 2008), and Hand-crafted Candy Bars (with Susan Heeger, Chronicle Books, 2013.)

Susie's career as a writer and chef position her for guest appearances, book signings, print articles and blogs. Contact her for content on:
